Len Deighton that was published in the United Kingdom in 1970. It is the fictionalised account of "the events relating to the last flight of an RAF Bomber over Germany on the night of June 31st, 1943", [1] a deliberately impossible date, in which an RAF bombing raid on the Ruhr area of western Germany goes wrong.

Wikipedia

Deighton employs fiction to bring home the reality of the British bomber offensive against Germany in WWII. Describing a single raid on the night of 31 June 1943 (a date calendar watchers will know never occurred), this is a comprehensive look at the kind of event that had taken on a near-ritualistic nature by this stage of the war.
